Rustic plank with gloss oil finish

better wood flooring for the environment and your home

Christina Meyer has long believed that solid wood flooring is far too costly – both in terms of its price and impact on the environment. That's why we acquire all of our flooring from FSC (Forest Stewardship Council) certified sources, indicating that it comes from well managed and renewable forests according to strict environmental, social and economic standards.

Advantageous relationships with suppliers and mills in Europe means we can provide the very finest floors at a competitive price, so you need not compromise and consider a less hardwearing laminate or engineered floor. Instead, you can expect a floor that lasts a lifetime whilst making a positive contribution to the environment.

Prime plank with matt oil finish

flooring tailored to your needs

Your Christina Meyer floor will be painstakingly made from the very best oak, beech, ash, walnut and cherry, and finished to your personal specification using a broad range of natural oils, waxes, varnishes and lacquers. Whatever your taste, we can supply a floor that fits in perfectly – with a full spectrum of natural wood shades, plus stunning grey, white or jet black to make a bold design statement.

Unlike laminates or engineered boards, a solid wood floor will keep its beauty for decades, wherever you place it in your home. And should you decide to redecorate, your Christina Meyer floor can easily be re-sanded and re-stained to change its look completely.
